Two Die In Holiday Crash At Ben Arnold

106

By FML

106 joins you all in looking forward to the happy infant that soon is to be 1966 and wishes a battered 1965 serenity wherever he may go.

We seek a better understanding in what is ahead by looking at the events that tired that eventful year. (See 1965 Milam Review.) Anyway the scythe cuts it, the Milam area has seen some times of stress and significant change in the past 12 months.

And the more we see, the more we realize what a wonderful thing a new day is. Taken separately, each day is as good as we make it and valuable if we can take it. The aging process is not as apparent a day at a time, though, like the Vietnam combat soldier, you can grow up in a few seconds.

Nobody wants philosophy, people often want to forget what they remember each New Year's. But that kind of bomb won't last long enough.

106 throws away the soap box, now, hopes a larger wisdom with work, will push the hopes of this area, and its people, into a reality they cherish and aspire.

Man, 24, Dies Of Gunshot Wound Christmas Eve

Samuel James Young, 24, of 1300 block West Eighth St., Cameron, was pronounced dead Christmas Eve by JP Jess Brock from one gunshot wound in the chest.

Sheriff Carl Black said that no charges have been filed in the death of the Cameron Negro last Thursday night in Maysfield community.

Sheriff Black said Young was shot outside the Bill Pagach home in Maysfield about 10 p.m. Thursday, December 24. Young was found dead on the road near the house when Sheriff Black arrived at the scene about 10:15 p.m.

Black quoted Pagach saying that he (Pagach) and his wife had heard someone in the yard about two hours before the shooting and had observed Young walking in the shadows.

Black said that when the Pagaches heard someone at the back door, Pagach got his rifle, a 30-30, and as the man unfastened the door, fired two shots.

Black said Pagach said he followed Young from the house and fired a third shot outside.

Young, married and father of three children, grew up in the Branchville community and was employed in Cameron. Black said Young had been arrested previously on charges of prowling and peeping.

Sheriff Black reported that a Val Verde woman was kidnapped and assaulted December 15, but investigation showed no connection of the incidents.

Fog Blamed For SH 36 Accident

A Christmas Eve accident on US 77 one mile south of Ben Arnold was fatal for a couple en route to Dallas for Christmas and hospitalized three others.

And a three car pile-up in foggy weather Monday night caused injury to two Cameron men.

Albert James Glover of Dallas is in Milam County jail following the 4 p.m. Christmas Eve accident which took the lives of Mr. and Mrs. William Ted Taylor of Garland. A charge of homicide with a motor vehicle (DWI) was filed against Glover in Justice Jess Brock's Justice of Peace Court.

Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus said a 1956 Lincoln, driven by Glover, collided with the passenger side of the Taylor's 1964 Dodge.

Broadus said the Taylor auto, driven by Mrs. Taylor, had apparently gone onto the shoulder of the highway to avoid colliding with the Lincoln as it passed another vehicle, and then pulled back onto the highway when they reached a bridge guard railing on the shoulder.

2 DEAD, 3 INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were dead on arrival at a Cameron hospital. Glover and two passengers in his car, Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Williams of Dallas, were hospitalized following the accident. Six of the Williams children, also passengers in the Glover car, escaped injury.

Broadus said the Taylors were returning from Portland, Tex., where Mr. Taylor had been on a construction job with Austin Bridge Co. Glover and the Williams were en route to Caldwell.

FOGGY WEATHER

Foggy weather Monday night was blamed for the three-car accident on SH 36 west of Cameron involving vehicles driven by Ernest Brod, H. J. Folschinsky Jr. and C. O. Angell, all of Cameron.

Highway Patrolman Broadus said Folschinsky's 1963 Chevrolet was in collision with the back of a pickup truck driven by Brod and about 10 minutes later a pickup truck driven by Angell collided with the Folschinsky car.

Broadus said all three vehicles were traveling toward Cameron when the accidents occurred about 11:30 p.m.

Brod and Angell were treated in a Cameron hospital and released. Extensive damage was reported on all three vehicles.

Milam Events Tell '65 Year Of Change

A Staff Review

The year 1965 will likely be remembered in Cameron and Milam County as a hallmark in rural services development and Cameron efforts to broaden its community resources and attraction.

In brief summary before the month-by-month rundown, Milam communities built more new water systems and worked harder on their schools. The development of these resources had no precedent as about four water systems materialized, and a fifth began. And Milam schools began historic change as Title I money went into every Milam school.

Cameron held two community clinics, the second a major evaluation that set direction for industrial and community development for years to come.

But to the specifics:

JANUARY — City 1963 building permits total $215,286. Mrs. Reyes Huerta celebrates 118th birthday. Narvie Caperton succeeds John Hays as acting postmaster. Incumbents Jimmy Marek and Starrett Hickman and newcomer Lawrence Zotz file for election. Bank deposits up $3.6 million over previous year. Junior Livestock Show attracts 120 top entries. Four thousand Countians declared eligible for aid in "War on Poverty."

Recreation development meeting reviews county possibilities. Rains top 10-year mark as streams overflow, Little River for second time. Niley J. Smith and R. W. Wells' school board posts up for election. Girl Scout Art Show attracts wide interest. Schools close as late winter drops mercury to 20 degrees. Tribute paid Dr. Thomas S. Barkley, 79, of Rockdale. County Commissioners study courthouse expansion, renovation prospects. Eugene Smitherman receives McCullin Award. W. S. Turner, believed first Negro candidate in city history, files for city council. Building starts on new rest home. School board favors Marak School annexation.

Optimism 1966

The New Year will bring numerous additional improvements in Cameron and vicinity, and hopefully, some that are not foreseeable at this date.

Cameron is ending 1965 with considerable construction underway, imminent or planned.

The airport, the library, a number of downtown business building improvements, some houses--are among the known.

Payroll development is possible in 1966 through the interest generated by the Industrial Foundation and plans for its fund drive.

A proposed hospital, outlines for continued downtown improvement, church expansion programs, industrial site selections are in 1966 prospects -- these, in fact, are being discussed for development.

So before the New Year turns, it seems that optimism should prevail here for the coming 12 months, save for the unexpected, such as Vietnam's effect on the national budget. But such an effect will have no direct influence in Milam County, compared to the effect that stoppage of expansion at Fort Hood would have on Killeen or Temple.

Happy New Year!

Cancer Films Available For Group Showings

Mrs. Bob Wells, Public Education Chairman for the Milam County Unit of the American Cancer Society, has announced that films on cancer are available to local clubs and organizations interested in having a program on America's number two killer disease.

Films available include "Breast Self Examination" which shows the simple technique of checking for unusual lumps or thickening in the breast "Time and Two Women" which deals with uterine cancer, and "Life Story," a film about the diagnosis of cancer of the colon. "Man Alive," a cartoon feature is a general film showing Cancer's Seven Danger Signals. "Smoking and You" an adult film, shows the relationship between smoking and various lung diseases including cancer.

A physician attends showings of these films and answers questions from the audience.

Also, the ACS will show adults the films the Cancer Society has produced to educate students about the hazards of smoking. We know the parents would like to know what their children are being taught about smoking and health.

Groups who wish to schedule a Cancer Society film should contact Mrs. Bob Wells at Box 743, Cameron.

FEWER COWS; MORE MILK

Each year since 1953, the number of milk cows in the nation has declined—from 21.7 million in 1953 to 15.5 million in 1965. Producers have offset the decline in numbers by raising the average production per cow by 220 pounds annually since 1955 to an estimated 8,300 pounds at the present time. For the year ahead Extension Economist John McHaney, at Texas A&M University, believes dairymen can expect a modest gain in the domestic consumption of dairy products and prices they receive for milk may show some improvement during 1966.

ELECTRICITY FROM A THIMBLEFUL OF WATER?

Sometime in the future, the heavy hydrogen in a thimbleful of "heavy water"—obtained from three gallons of ordinary water—may yield enough energy to supply all the electric power required by the average home for more than two years.

Research to bring this about is being supported by Texas Power & Light Company.

TP&L and other investor-owned electric utility companies throughout the nation support hundreds of continuing research and development programs . . . all aimed toward assuring you, our customers, of ample, dependable and economical electric service and aiding in the improvement of the agricultural and industrial economy.

Medicare In Tex.! May Take While

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Working out federal medicare insurance benefits in Texas may take awhile.

According to state officials, the Texas plan for those 231,819 persons on old age assistance rolls will require "some time" to develop. This because complexities in the act require further study.

Problem arises out of Title 19. It provides a $3-a-month voluntary medical insurance program for the elderly.

This would supplement medical care available both to social security recipients and elderly persons who receive medical aid through state welfare programs.

Problem is whether old age assistance payments should be raised $3 to take care of the premium, or whether the state should pay the premium separately. Either way, it will cost welfare recipients nothing.

Medicare is effective July 1, but a March 31 deadline has been set for voluntary enrollment in the basic hospital insurance for the elderly.

According to Commissioner John Winters of the Department of Public Welfare, it is not mandatory for everyone to sign up for the voluntary insurance feature of the program. However, all who participate in the medicare program do have to sign in. It's the only way those who receive Social Security can get the medical benefits. "But," says the Commissioner, "they can choose to do so without the insurance coverage."

FARMERS COOPERATE

Trans-Pecos farmers are cooperating well on two cotton pest control programs in the area, according to Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

In an effort to control the pink bollworm, White issued a proclamation to plow under cotton stalks in El Paso and Hudspeth Counties.

New Mexico State University ordered plow-ups in Chaves and Eddy Counties.

White said he has assurances of cooperation in the program.

Both proclamations followed a serious outbreak of pink bollworm this year in the two-state area.

ANTI-TRUST SUITS VIEWED

Texas officials are viewing with interest a $30,000,000 damage suit filed in Oklahoma. It is for alleged price-fixing. Sued by the State of Oklahoma are 10 firms that have been selling the state asphaltic oil for highway construction.

Accountants for the Texas Highway Department now are checking records in Austin pertaining to the $1,700,000 worth of asphalt oil purchased annually by the State of Texas.

In the Sooner State's suit, it is charged that the State of Oklahoma has been overcharged $10,000,000 on asphaltic road oil purchases as a result of price-fixing by the ten firms over a five-year period.

Savs Texas' attorney general, Waggoner Carr, "We're interested in this suit. If we find anything here, we will take appropriate action."

So far there has been no indication of price-fixing here.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

State Aeronautics Commission has authority to spend appropriated funds for hardsurfacing and lighting landing strips at Falcon State Park ($30,000) and Lake Whitney State Park ($30,000) and for facilities in cooperation with local and federal governments ($200,000), Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said.

In two other opinions, Carr:

—Told District Atty. James A. Morris of Orange Independent School Districts that incorporated cities and counties may individually employ the same private appraisal firm, and the county may contract to assess and collect taxes for the districts or cities.

—Advised State Board of Barber Examiners it cannot require applicants for barber schools to appear before the Board for "educational fitness" check.

BANKS APPROVED

State Banking Board approved charters for new Frontier State Bank of Eagle Pass, Southwest State Bank of Brownwood and Friendswood State Bank (Galveston County.)

Board rejected applications of proposed First State Bank of Keller and First State Bank of Covington.

RETAIL SALES UP

November retail sales in Texas brought the year's total figures up six per cent above the first 11 months of last year, says the UT Bureau of Business Research. November sales were down two per cent from October. But there was 14 per cent gain over November of 1964.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Connally has appointed Grady O. Trimble Jr. Jasper attorney, to be district attorney of the First District, comprising Jasper, Newton, Sabine and San Augustine Counties. He succeeds Floyd Addington, resigned.

M. K. Berry of Vernon now is a member of the Midwestern University Board of Regents. Governor Connally named him to succeed State Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon, who resigned. Term expires Feb. 25, 1968.

Connally announced, too, that soon after January 1 he will name a 15-member public school study committee.

Staffing of a "Texas liaison office" to coordinate statewide interest in Washington will be completed shortly, the governor stated.

House Speaker Ben Barnes has named an interim committee to study laws relating to agriculture, and to recommend needed improvements of benefit to farmers, ranchers and the entire state. Selected were: W. W. Lynch of Dallas, chairman; Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde; and State Reps. Milton J. Schiller of Cameron Wayne Connally of Floresville; and Delwin Jones of Lubbock.

CONNALLY TO STUMP STATE

Gov. John Connally says that regardless of whether he has an opponent in the Democratic primary he plans to travel over Texas next year discussing problems and laying out a "broad and imaginative" program for the future.

His proposals will "emcompass almost all areas of state government." They will include a $1,000,000 - bond - financed water development program, advances in education, tuberculosis control and mental retardation work. Also "expansive and ambitious programs" for "woefully inadequate" state parks and recreation.

In commenting on the number of terms a governor may serve, Connally stated that he does not favor any limitation because the office is "weak enough" already. One of the "few strengths" a governor has, said Connally, is that he just may be around for another term.

HEART-FUND RIDE

Eddie Snell, a cowboy who is riding horseback from California to Washington, D.C. on behalf of the Heart Fund, was presented with an Honorary Texan Citation at the State Capitol by Governor Connally.

Snell, who lost an 18-month-old daughter with congenital heart disease a few years ago, does not accept money for the Fund. But he encourages people to mail contributions addressed to Heart Fund, care of Local Postmaster.

SEEK CANDIDATES

Texas Republicans will begin their serious talk of fielding 1966 candidates for state office at a meeting of their executive committee here January 7-8.

In addition to hearing a report from a candidates' committee, the SREC also will adopt its budget for 1966 and hear a report from Sen. John Tower on his recent tour of Vietnam.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Sage Has Trouble Seeing Into Next Year And This Year Was No Big Help

Dear editar:

A couple of days after Christmas, when I was figuring up how much it cost, you know some people are always referring to Washington as Santa Claus and they're right—the government has cut income taxes and raised Social Security taxes, just the way the Christmas-gift business works—at any rate, a neighbor of mine out here stopped me and said, "Well, how does the new year look to you?"

"I can't see it from here," I told him.

Anybody who claims he can see over into next week, not to mention next year, has already forgotten what happened last month. I don't know what it was, but it didn't happen like he figured it would.

Predicting next year is like predicting next month's weather, and I have a notion that if man, and it's possible, ever gets control of the weather and can make it rain when he wants to, stay dry when he wants it to, there will still be jobs for weather forecasters, this time predicting whether the Bureau will have rain here or sunshine there. What I mean is, man is no more predictable than the elements, which is the reason nobody knows what's going to happen in 1966. In fact, there are times when I prefer the elements.

As for me, my theory is the best way to handle a year is one day at a time, and the best way to handle a day is one hour at a time. Any man who can't handle one hour, there's not much hope for him. Although there have been hours I'd just as soon have skipped.

In 1966, I figure things will be about like they were in 1965, and if me and Congress can figure what happened then, we'll have normal sailing. But watch out for the sand bars.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

SUPPORT PRICES INCREASED

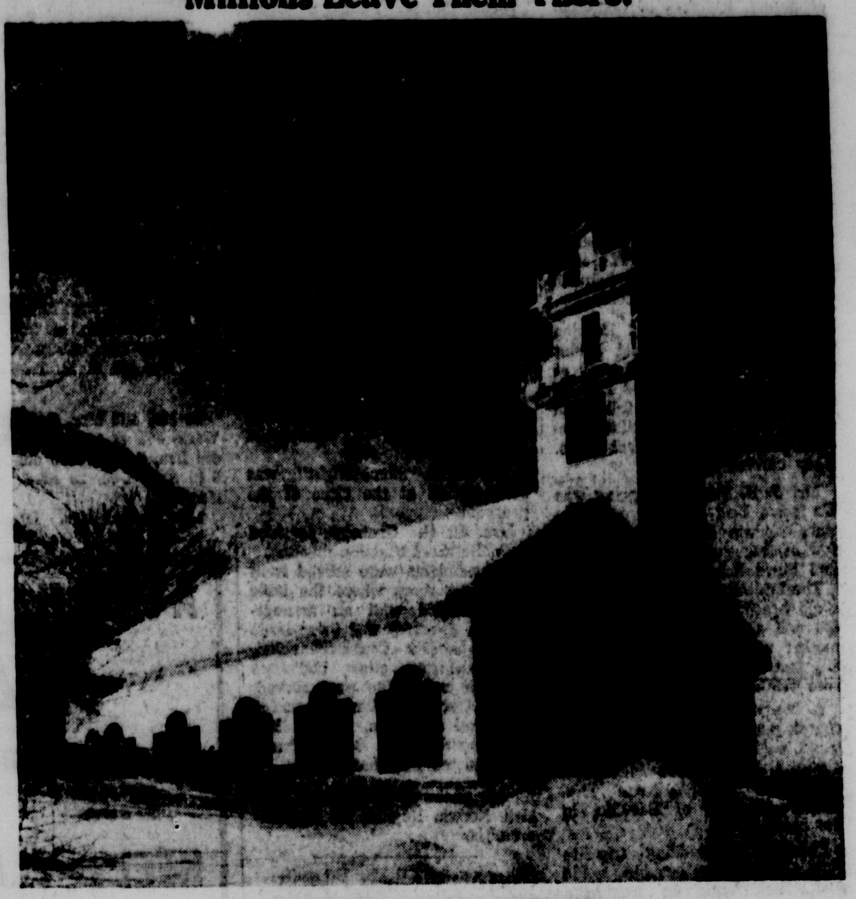
TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!



WITHIN HIS HOUSE

It is a notable fact that multitudes of the most thoughtful of men and women are aware of the necessity to worship something on the peril of being nothing. In the story of the Christian Faith it is worthy to note that besides the unlearned shepherds at the first Christmas there were also wise men who traveled far to worship The Child, born to be King. These were not sentimental, wishful thinkers, anymore than was Paul the Apostle, who followed the unlearned disciples.

If we do not worship God we worship something less worthy. It may be a political ideology or an economic cult that promises to make us all rich. Wise men and women know that when we turn from the true God, we worship half or false gods.

When we attend the Church of our faith and hold fast to its teachings we are safe from following false gods. That is why it is just good, sound reasoning to worship God within the sacred confines of His House where it is easiest to reach him.

State Sen. Murray Watson Up For Re-Election To Second Term in '66

State Senator Murray Watson Jr., District No. 13, announced Wednesday night that he will be a candidate for re-election in 1966 for a second term.

Watson, who served three terms in the House and has served as senator of McLennan, Bell and Milam counties, now seeks to represent a greater number of people, the counties of Falls and Limestone having been added under the recent redistricting plan.

Watson said he will begin another busy and active campaign in January.

"It has been an honor and a privilege to have worked for the people of District 13 these past two years, and now I'm grateful for the prospect of serving citizens in two additional counties (Falls and Limestone)," said Senator Watson.

Watson was elected to the House in 1956 in his first try for public office. The Baylor graduate and native of Mart was unopposed in 1958 and won by a wide margin in 1960.

In 1962, Watson sought the senate seat and received 16,867 of the 24,532 votes cast in the senatorial race in McLennan, Bell and Milam Counties.

Presently, Watson is serving on the Texas Legislative Council, an Interim Study Committee.

He handled 52 bills which passed and several others which did not pass both houses at the last session.

Among bills authored by Senator Watson, of special importance to Central Texas, at the last session were:

SB 467 - Authorization for the creation of James Connally Vocational Technical Institute, which begins classes in January.

SB 578 - Authroizing the Brazos River Authority to operate facilities for Industrial waste and centralized sewer processing.

SB 172 - Conveyed to city of Waco, bids, banks and islands of Brazos and Bosque Rivers inside city of Waco. This makes it possible for the city of Waco to build a low water dam, if it so desires in the future.

Watson began preparing himself for public service at Mart High School. His classmates frequently tapped his leadership qualities and elected him to class office. Three years after his high school graduation, Watson had earned a BBA degree at Baylor University's School of Business—and just two years later, in 1954, he finished law school at Baylor and received his LLB degree. As a youthful attorney, Watson furthered his knowledge of government by working as a Bill Clerk, gaining valuable, practical experience in legislative affairs.

The Lieutenant Governor selected Watson this year to head up as chairman, the important State Departments and Institutions Committee during the 59th Regular Session. Watson also was designated vice chairman of the key committee on Transportation. He is serving on nine other committees—Banking, Constitutional Amendments, Game and Fish, Insurance, Jurisprudence, Military and Veterans Affairs, Oil and Gas, Rules and State Affairs.

Senator Watson has become widely known throughout the Central Texas area through his active participation in public and civic affairs. He is currently president and director of the Central Texas Industrial Development Council, president and director of the Central Texas Museum in Salado, a member of the Mart Lions Club, the Chambers of Commerce in Mart and Waco, the McLennan County Farm Bureau, the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association, Waco Junior Chamber of Commerce, Waco-McLennan County Bar Association, State Bar of Texas, Baylor Masonic Lodge, Waco Scottish Rite Consistory, Karem Shrine Temple, American Bar Association, Waco Kiwanis Club, Waco Toastmaster's Club and Waco Farm and Ranch Club.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Watson Sr., of Mart and is married to the former Greta Warren who has been a tireless and energetic campaigner for the Senator.

The Watsons have one child, a daughter, Millicent "Missy" Watson.

As a Legislator, Murray Watson has been responsible for the passage of numerous laws affecting the health, welfare and economic well-being of all Texans. He's a tireless worker devoted to his duties—a man of integrity and great talents, and a public representative of the people who will never hesitate to tell his views or take a positive stand on any public issue.

Mrs. Paul Richard Young

Ceremony Unites Miss Vest, Young

White carnations and red poinsettias accented with green graced the St. Paul Methodist Church in Houston for the 6 p.m. wedding of Miss Janis Louise Vest and Mr. Paul Richard Young on Saturday, December 18.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Vest Jr., Houston, and Mr. Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Young of Spring, formerly of Cameron.

The Rev. Roy Percival performed the double ring ceremony and Miss Virginia Collins of Waco sang The Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory embossed taffeta with empire waist and A line skirt. A butterfly train was attached to the lower bodice. Her fingertip veil was of imported silk illusion held by a circle of taffeta and re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her only jewelry was a diamond drop, a gift of the groom.

Miss Marilyn Haris of Houston was maid of honor and brides maids were Mrs. Pat Weaver of Austin and Mrs. Edward Pyle of Conroe. They wore full-length gowns with white metallic brocade bodice and red velvet skirts. They carried red roses.

Mr. J. R. Young of Spring was his son's best man. Groomsmen were Norwin Hughes, brother-in-law of the groom, from Cameron and Steve Schonfield of Houston.

The bride's mother wore an Emerald brocade suit with matching hat and shoes and the groom's mother wore an ivory three-piece silk suit with matching shoes and rose feathered hat.

A reception was held in the church parlor with Miss Margaret Gage, Miss Carolyn Miller, Mrs. Jimmy Haughton, Miss Helen Wedlich, all of Houston, and Mrs. Virginia Phillips of Beeville, in the house party.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will make their home in Huntsville where both are students at Sam Houston State College.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. S. M. Harrell, grandmother of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Norwin Hughes, all of Cameron.

Christmas Program, Carols At Annual Delphian Club Party

Delphian Club members and guests, Mmes. Franklyn Dusek, Bernay Dusek, Grover McCullin, D. R. Dodson and Hilliard Thomas, were entertained in the home of Mrs. A. W. McCullin Tuesday, December 21. Mrs. Albert McCullin Jr. was co-hostess.

The McCullin home was entirely in seasonal decor for the Christmas program presented by Mrs. E. J. Burkes and Mrs. Eugene Strickland. Mrs. Burkes read the Christmas story and Mrs. Strickland sang a Christmas solo accompanied by Mrs. Hilliard Thomas.

Instead of the accustomed Christmas tree, each club member donated four quarters to the Federated Headquarters in Austin. As each presented her gift she related an event which had given happiness at Christmas time.

The carol "Silent Night" was sung by all at the close of the program.

Mrs. R. G. Grabein presided over the short business meeting.

Refreshments were served from the dining room where the table was centered with an arrangement of greenery and three large lighted candles. Congealed salad, fruit cake and other delicacies with tea and coffee were served. Mrs. Albert McCullin Jr. served the salad and Mrs. Grover McCullin poured. Mrs. Bernay Dusek also assisted with hospitalities.

Babson's Forecast For 1966

By Roger Babson

"Peace and Prosperity" should continue to be the dominant theme in 1966. President Johnson will push ahead in attempts to capitalize on the inroads he has already made with his Great Society program. However, since 1966 will be a Congressional election year, he may find the going less easy than it was this past year; the Congressmen and Senators who are up for re-election will likely think twice before being so generous with the taxpayers' money.

I, of course, would like nothing better than to be completely optimistic in this Forecast, but my more than 60 years of experience in predicting trends has taught me that unexpected events are most dangerous when conditions are brightest.

1. The health of world leaders may well be a prime factor in 1966. These include President de Gaulle, Mao Tse-tung, and even President Johnson.

2. Perhaps the biggest threat in 1966 will come from abroad. There is evidence that the coalition leadership in Russia may be centralizing into the hands of a strongman—something not seen since the Khrushchev ouster. Moreover, Africa could again hold the spotlight in the shifting pattern of the "cold war."

3. I do not look for war with Russia during 1966. Russia is still greatly concerned with trying to bring prosperity to her own people, and is especially troubled about the lag in farm productivity.

4. The struggle for power within Russia may come to a head in 1966. If the strongman is anti-West, he could try to put on a good show by heating up the "cold war," but this should constitute no more than threatening gestures and bold talk.

5. The Berlin crisis is not likely to be a major issue in 1966, though there could be some nuisance events to "try our patience."

6. I do not foresee all-out war with Red China in 1966. Mao is not yet ready to risk major confrontation. His lagging farm and industrial programs still loom as major problems, and the task of extending Red China's nuclear progress is a heavy burden.

7. The foremost task for Red China still is to get a seat in the United Nations. While Southeast Asia is an attractive plum, territorial expansion may well have to wait in Red China's timetable, as a peaceful profile on her part would make gaining a seat at the UN easier. UN admission, of course, would greatly enhance Red China's prestige in dealings with the Afro-Asian nations.

8. Despite talks of a prolonged struggle in Vietnam, I forecast that it will be increasingly clear that the balance has swung our way. This should encourage our leaders to step up our commitment in Vietnam in 1966 in order to force a "peace conference."

9. I foresee no crisis over Cuba in 1966. The agreement Castro has made to allow more Cuban refugees to enter the U.S.A. underscores the problem he has in feeding his people.

10. The Vietnam situation and the Dominican Republic incident have convinced the Administration that the military might of our nation must be maintained at a "ready" basis. This means stepped-up defense spending, which should add another prop to the economy.

11. While such defense spending will focus heavily upon conventional military equipment, our space program will not be neglected. Having come from behind in the space race, the Administration is not likely to falter and allow Russia to open another wide gap.

12. The increase in defense spending notwithstanding, I forecast that the economy will be hard pressed to match the fantastic achievements of the past four years. Threats of major labor strikes have been playing an important role in stimulating inventory accumulations from time to time to keep things rolling along. I do look for industrial production to edge to a new high. However, I fear the peak will come before midyear and taper off thereafter. On the whole, the business climate in 1966 may well prove to be one of high-level stability rather than of vigorous climb.

13. Business capital expenditures, which have been a key factor in prolonging the business boom, should remain a strong bolstering influence. However, I predict that they will not provide as much in the way of upthrust for the economy as in the past two years.

14. Business inventory accumulation, likewise a big factor in the boom, should also become a less vigorous expansionary force. Perhaps fears of inflationary price increases will encourage businessmen to maintain a healthy volume of inventories, but unless war threats intensify, I see no need to pile up much more in inventories.

15. Consumers will have more money to spend in 1966. I forecast a further uptrend in personal incomes to new high ground. An important influence in this respect is the impact of automatic wage increases which are called for in existing multi-year labor pacts.

16. Also, I predict a further rise in the general structure of wage rates, as many secondary labor unions seek to match the gains of the auto and steel workers.

17. Unless another federal tax cut is enacted—which now seems remote in view of the war effort and the present fiscal deficit—net income after taxes may not rise as rapidly as gross income. The social security tax rate is scheduled for a step-up. Also, higher state and local taxes—including sales levies—will place more of a burden on consumers.

18. The all-iportant employment situation should remain generally good. We may have seen the greatest portion of the rise in manufacturing employment. However, employment in government payrolls at all levels, and in services, should continue to score sizable gains.

19. I forecast no radical change in the jobless picture. Let me warn readers, however, that the problem is far from solved, and in coming years we may well have to reckon with it. The draft step-up only temporarily eases things and gives a false sense of well-being.

20. Retail trade should enjoy another excellent year. Much of the gain in dollar volume, of course, will come from price rises. Nevertheless, as long as personal incomes, employment, and business hold high, consumer confidence will encourage spending.

21. Spending for food, apparel, and general merchandise should continue upward, also for leisure-time and vacation lines. Color television is catching on, and I look for continued strong demand in this field.

22. The automobile business will not be left out in the spending spree. It will enjoy another prosperous year, but I foresee no significant upsurge beyond the high levels of the past two years.

23. In view of the drain on our gold supplies, the government has been endeavoring to promote domestic travel and vacations. Nevertheless, I forecast further interest in foreign vacations. In one sense, I am happy to see this. I have done considerable foreign traveling, and I feel that such activity is definitely advantageous. Furthermore, I feel that foreign travel can help Americans to wake up to the advantages here at home and make them more thankful for the blessings they enjoy.

24. Many readers — especially those retired and living on pensions and social security—are worried about the threat of inflation. I forecast no radical inflation during 1966...the Administration is committed to "non-inflationary progress." However, some price increases appear unavoidable.

25. I predict that the greater danger will lie in credit infaltion, rather than in price inflation.

26. With the rise in defense spending and the cost of legislation for the Great Society, the federal budget will suffer a sizable deficit. In addition, states and municipalities are unable and unwilling to live within their means. Consumers will also go further into debt.

27. Look for new increases in the cost-of-living index. The government may try to head off substantial price hikes in key areas, but selective price rises will occur.

28. Industrial commodity prices should remain firm to higher, particularly in the first half of 1966. The primary bulwark against a price runaway is competition, which should be basically more effective than government influence.

29. I look for an increase in domestic competition in 1966. This should become more evident as the business upthrust tapers off. Also, we must not forget foreign competition. With many nations feeling the pinch of a dollar shortage, they will work to remedy this by increasing their sales here.

30. Business in 1966 need fear no major labor tie-ups. Strikes, however, may well be numerous among the secondary labor units.

31. I look for business failures to increase, both in numbers and in dollar liabilities. This will be due to keen competition, excesses of debt and inventory accumulations, unwise credit extensions, and careless management.

32. Of greater concern to me is the steady climb in nonfarm real estate foreclosures. I expect a further rise in 1966.

33. Business profits in 1966 will not advance as sharply as in the past two or three years. The squeeze is on in profit margins, hence I look for a tapering off in the rise of corporate profits, although I foresee no drastic slump while activity holds near peak.

34. Looking at the farm sector, I see no radical change from the excellent 1965 year. Barring a crop failure or severe drought, farm prices, at worst, should shade only slightly lower.

35. Farm equipment manufacturers should enjoy good business in 1966. This goes also for fertilizer and pesticide producers.

36. The important building and construction lines should hold their own in 1966, but their dollar volume may be due largely to price and cost inflation. The Great Society program is a plus factor for construction, including urban renewal and highways.

37. Private home and apartment building could show slight improvement, but the real boom in residential building will not register significantly in 1966.

38. Hence, I forecast that real estate conditions will remain selective. Well-located sites for homes and industrial and commercial complexes will do well, but study of local conditions is imperative.

39. I predict a further increase in farm land values in 1966. With costs still rising, the physical size of farms must expand so operators can benefit from mechanization. This places a premium on well-located land in the important and larger agricultural regions.

40. The steady advance toward fuller automation should make further progress in 1966, helping industry to cope with rising operating costs and shorter work weeks.

41. Trees do not grow to the skies, neither does the stock market rise unendingly. While I forecast that the stock market—as measured by the Dow-Jones Industrials—can surpass the high mark of 1965, I anticipate a volatile 1966 market with a good-sized drop-off a real possibility some time during the year.

42. Even though the stock market may push to new highs, any further advance may not bulk large percentagewise. If business and corporate profits show a tendency to taper off, the fundamental basis for a worth-while advance will be removed.

43. Speculative enthusiasm and inflation fears can be expected to figure prominently in the stock market. Above all, let me remind readers of the dangers of using borrowed money to buy stocks. Those who "go off the deep end" may well regret it before very long.

45. Those who invest (not speculate) on the basis of growth will sleep better nights. I have in mind the expanding population, rising incomes, scientific advances, greater leisure, and above all the impact of the Great Society.

46. Investors should be pleased with cash dividend payments in 1966. I forecast they will show another increase. I would also expect a rash of stock dividends and stock splits, particularly in the first half of the year.

47. If businessmen, consumers, and investors do not act voluntarily to keep inflationary pressures and speculation from getting out of hand, the monetary authorities may be forced to raise margin requirements on stock purchases, and perhaps tighten credit further.

48. Look for somewhat lower bond prices in 1966. Although we are not in immediate danger of credit exhaustion, the banking system is under some strain from the rapid expansion of credit in recent years. My advice is to buy bonds which mature in five years or less. The time to buy good longer-term bonds will come when the yields on short-term bonds exceed those on long-term issues.

49. The dollar will not be devalued in 1966. Possibility of devaluation of the British pound will undoubtedly come to the fore again, but additional effort will probably be made to keep the pound from "going under." I fear, however, that all this is only "buying time"...that devaluation of the pound may be inevitable.

50. I foresee no cure for the out flow of gold from America's shores in 1966. However, in view of the importance of the U.S. in international trade and world military considerations, foreign bankers will be reluctant to withdraw their gold en masse. Bear in mind also that there is no country that can match our industrial and military might...and that, among the leading nations, the United States has suffered least in terms of the ravages of inflation and political instability.

Mr. Sheffer, 61, General Manager of the company's Fabricating Division since 1963, will be in charge of fabricating operations. Mr. Sloane, 59, and since 1963 General Manager of the Smelting Division, will be in charge of Alcoa's Refining and Smelting Operations.

Retiring with Mr. Litchfield on December 31 will be H. J. Morrison, Vice President in Charge of Smelting and Fabricating, and an Alcoa career man for 36 years.

Mr. Harper, a native of Louisville, Tenn., who began his career with Alcoa as a teenager in 1925, today is one of the nation's best known corporate executives. An electrical engineering graduate of the University of Tennessee, he was Assistant District Power Manager for Alcoa's Tennessee Operations in 1951, when he was named Works Manager of the new aluminum smelter at Rockdale. He came to Pittsburgh in 1955 as Assistant General Manager of the Smelting Division, and, the following year, became Division General Manager. He was appointed Assistant Production Manager in 1960, and elected Vice President in Charge of Alcoa's Smelting and Fabricating Divisions the same year. In 1962 he became Vice President in Charge of Production, then Executive Vice President and a Director, and, in 1963, President.

Mr. Sloane spent several years at Alcoa's Point Comfort (Texas) Operations before going to Pittsburgh. His first Aloca experience was as a summer vacation worker, and his continuous service with the company spans 35 years. He is a native of Youngstown, Ohio, a graduate of Georgia Institute of Technology, and a former manager of several works locations prior to becoming Division General Manager five years ago.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When Guest Sues Host

"One of these days," mused a well-meaning home owner, "I've got to tighten up that loose railing on the back porch."

But for months he kept postponing the needed repairs. One day a woman visitor leaned on the railing, broke through, and plunged to the ground—nine feet below.

In due course the woman sued her host for damages, and won the case. The judgment came to $5,000.

Claims of this kind, by guest against host, are arising with growing frequency. They illustrate the fact that, although your home is your castle, you must maintain the premises with due regard for the safety of your visitors.

How great is your responsibility? Clearly you are not liable for an accident if the premises are kept in proper condition. Thus, a guest who tripped on a carpeted stairway failed to collect damages, since there was nothing defective in either the carpeting or the steps.

Even if there is a defect, it must be substantial in order to support a damage claim.

For example:

A three-year-old visitor, stumbling on a driveway, bruised his cheek on a little mound of cement. Strictly speaking, the mound—about the size of a saucer—did not belong there. But a court held it was too trivial a defect to pin any blame on the home owner.

Furthermore, to justify legal liability, the defect must have a cause-and-effect connection with the accident. A guest who hurt his leg jumping on a diving board was denied damages, because he could not prove any connection between his injury and a slight looseness in the board.

On the other hand, the law usually does hold you responsible for the household booby trap (like that loose railing), known to you but not likely to be discovered by outsiders.

You must not let the unsuspecting visitor fend for himself amid hidden dangers that you have created. As a matter of law, as well as a matter of etiquette, that is no way to treat a guest.

"WHAT'S THE USE OF TALKING IF YOU DON'T KNOW THE FACTS?"

IS HIS opinion any better than yours? That's a question that faces every thoughtful man or woman a dozen times a day. The answer depends on the fund of general information possessed by every individual and his ability to draw on it to form reasonable conclusions.

As for the fund of information, few of us have time or opportunity to gather it in libraries or institutions of learning. We do have, however, our newspapers that bring us the happenings, what is thought and said everywhere in the world.

Our newspapers provide us with a continuous flow of the information on which sound opinion is based.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

How Is Your Telephone Etiquette

By Jane Sherrod Singer

When Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone, it did not occur to him that it would become a vexatious instrument in the hands of those people who misuse it. It's all a matter of good manners. For instance do you:

	YES	NO
1. When calling, identify yourself rather than making the other person guess?	( )	( )
2. Get lonely and call up your friends just to chat for a long, long while?	( )	( )
3. Ask the party you are calling if it is convenient to talk at that time?	( )	( )
4. Check phone numbers when not absolutely sure of them?	( )	( )
5. Dial carefully?	( )	( )
6. Have a notepad and pencil by the phone to take messages?	( )	( )
7. Place casual calls at times that are convenient for the other party?	( )	( )
8. If interrupted, suggest calling back instead of making the person wait at the other end of the line?	( )	( )
9. Have a ready list of emergency numbers: police, fire department, doctors, etc.	( )	( )
10. Call others during business hours about trivial personal matters?	( )	( )
11. Ever make a list of things you wish to discuss rather than rattling on?	( )	( )
12. (For girls and women only) Call that man in your life just to let him know you are thinking about him?	( )	( )
13. Use the phone as a plaything for tricks such as dialing numbers at random and then hanging up, or for leaving strange anonymous messages?	( )	( )
14. Hold the receiver and use a voice so that your voice can be heard without straining (or breaking) the listener's eardrums?	( )	( )

DESIRABLE ANSWERS:

1. YES. The "guess who" is so stupidly coy that it is immature. And it is egotistically stupid to assume the other party knows your voice. Properly, one should say, "Hello, Betty? This is Paul . . ."

2. NO. This is one of the greatest crimes. You may be lonely, but the other person may not be. There just could be an emergency when others are trying to get through to YOU.

3. YES. This is just courtesy. Perhaps the person who answers your call is still dripping from the shower or has a cake ready to come out of the oven.

4. YES. You know how YOU hate wrong numbers. Don't inflict them on others. Phone books and information service are at your convenience.

5. YES. Wrong dialing? Wrong number!

6. YES. Don't trust your memory when taking messages for other people. Repeat the message back as you have written it.

7. YES. YOU may get up at six in the morning, but not all your friends do. Avoid mealtimes when possible. In making long distance calls, remember time differences.

8. YES. That knock at the door may take you longer than you think. Suggest that you will return the call at your earliest convenience.

9. YES. The reason is obvious.

10. NO. NEVER, unless you merely ask the other party to call you back at a more convenient time since you do not have the after-office phone number.

11. YES. This will avoid that sudden thought, "I forget to say . . ."

12. NO. There is something in the prideful make-up of the male which leads him to want to be the pursuer, not the pursued. Unless he suggests it, let him call you.

13. NO. This is no joke. Not recommended unless you want a sudden visit from the police.

14. YES. Since it is hard to gauge our own telephone voices, ask someone else how you sound. Your best friends will tell you.

15. YES. This is customary, polite and proper unless you are positively forbidden not to.

SCORING:

Unless you have answered 11 or more of these questions correctly, your bad telephone manners are showing.
